EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Douglas Pearson on 4/12/04.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 1, line 5, ---stronger than -500 Oe--- has been inserted following "negative nucleation field"

Claim 1, line 7, "medium" has been deleted and inserted therefor ---layer---

Claim 15, line 5, ---stronger than -500 Oe--- has been inserted following "negative nucleation field"

Claim 15, line 7, "2-4" has been deleted and inserted therefor ---2---

STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the present claims are allowable over the closest prior art to Hirayama et al. (US 6083599). Hirayama et al. fail to teach or suggest a magnetic recording medium having a CoCrPt magnetic recording layer containing Ta, Nb or Ta and Nb in an amount less than 4 at% and having a negative nucleation field stronger than -500 Oe.

In the Office action mailed 6/27/03, it was argued that Hirayama et al. inherently teach a medium having a negative nucleation field by virtue of the fact that the reference disclosed a structure having a magnetic layer thickness within the claimed range. However, the present specification teaches that the value of the negative nucleation field is dependent on multiple factors including the thickness of the magnetic layer but also the composition of the magnetic layer (see Fig. 5 and specification p. 7, lines 6-8). Thus, even though it is known in the art to add Ta and/or Nb to CoCrPt alloys, there is no basis to support the position that the claimed negative nucleation field value would be inherent if the structure taught by Hirayama et al. was modified to include the claimed amount of Ta and/or Nb.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Holly Rickman whose telephone number is (571) 272-1514. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00.
